SIMS & MELLICHAMP,
Look Box No. 18, Orangeburg, S. C.

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Thursday, September 20, 1883.

A Trula Well Put. An exchange remarks that "whenever the country is more than willing to give the Democrats complete control of the Government, they sacrifice everything by personal and factional squabbles." We regret that the above is true. No longer than a week or two ago, the News and Courier intimated that unless the free trade wing of the party controlled the National Convention-by putting in their "tariff for revenue only" plank there would be a bolt from the Democratte party in 1884 sufficient to defeat its nominees. This is altogether wrong. The minority must submit to the majority, or our party organization is worthless. While we firmly and conscientiously believe that the best policy for the Democratic party to pursue in the next Presidential campaign is to hold the tariff question in abeyance until after the election and make the fight upon the issue of civil service reform, we shall not bolt if the tariff is made the issue. We want to see a Democrat, in the White House, and beside this all other desires fade into insignificance. We are willing to subordinate all of our views to this one grand and glorious result. We-want to see the tariff reformed. The success of the Democracy will reform it. We want the Government purified. The success of the Democracy will purify it. Why then should there be any bolt from elther wing? Let us choose the best issue, concentrate our forces, and rout the enemy, and then the needed reforms can be successfully carried out. Let us hear no more about bolting, but let us give the people an honest government by slecting the Democratic candidates in 1884. This is where we stand. No Government Telegraph for Us. A report comes from Washington that a bill will be introduced in the next Congress authorizing the Government to issus $100,000,000 of twenty year three per cent. bonds to purchase the telegraph plants of the country. This will be only rave been carrierly but effectually stolen from them by the Republican party, but, as the next House is Democratic, we hope the scheme will be nipped in the bud. If this movement is successful, the next step will be to gobble the railroads. and possibly the newspapers, and then where are the liberties of the people. With the mails, the telegraph and the railroads in the hands of the Government, we would be completely in the power of a set of unscrupulous and designing politicians who may chance to be in authority. Those of us who know the uses to which the postoffice and revenue departments of the Government in the South have been put during the last twenty years by the Radical party can't look with any degree of serenity upon the proposition to put the telecontrol, to be prostituted for political purposes. The telegraph companies are political and financial power, but they are more tolerable and less dangerous to the wee institutions of the country than a political telegraph monopoly manipulated by the Radical politicians would be. pet scheme of the Radicals.

We, therefore, trust that the Democrats in Congress will promptly squelch this The Immigrant Question Considering the great advantages of the South in good soil, mild climate, large resources, and fair educational facitities, it is a matter of surprise to many that we are favored with so small a sprinkling of foreign immigration. To our mind, the reasons are not far to find. In the first place, many of our farmers prefer to make out with inferior labor than to pay good prices for better work. Then again, the white immigrants want more comfortable houses, better fare and social comforts which many are slow in giving. But, still more, foreign immigrants, in the face of these facts, are no disposed to compete against negro labor. We must improve in these respects if we wish to see the tide of immigration setting in Southward, which is far more important, both in the political and agricultural espect, than many seem to have any conception of. If the people of the South would awake to their true interests in this matter, and have agents in Europe to bring the immigrants directly of our section would be very much improved.

The Cotton Tax. The cotton tax levied by the United States government many years ago by which millions of dollars were unjustly wrenched from the Southern States, has been declared by the Supreme Court to be unconstitutional, and yet not one dollar of the stolen money has been restored. The portion stolen from South Carolina alone was $4,172,420. The South acks no favors. All she wants is hat the verdict of the Court should be leved and the money restored that was taken away. If this simple act of justice is done, she will put herself on her feet

A Prosperous Farmer Dead. Mr. Farish C. Furman, the successful farmer of Georgia, whose wonderful achievements in intensive farming have been ruhlished all over the United States, died suddenly at his home on last Friday night. He was a son of Dr. John H.

Roads vs. Railroads. Gen, Edward McCrady has written a letter to Senator Butler making some Port Royal on Sunday, It measured valuable suggestions on the subject of sixteen feet across and weighed two public roads. He thinks that our people make a mistake in trying to build railroads which they cannot afford and which are only made to be gobbled up by or Butler. capitalists. He shows by statistics of New England and the Western States that no railroad can be operated with profit in a section with less than 850 innabitants to a mile of road. In South Carolina statistics show that instead of 850 to the mile we have scarcely 553. We are able, according to the calculation, to run with profit only 1,171 miles of railway, instead of which we are now running 1,500 with a prospect of 300 more soon which are in process of construction. He thinks it would be far more profitable to put our money on the public roads, which concern everybody, than on the railroads that effect only the few. He says:

"In Poor's Manual for 1882, the cost of constructing a mile of railroad is put at $25,000. Governor Bonham, in his last reports, puts the cost per mile in this State at $26.385,20. I have made a calculation upon the figures given by ousy.

Judge Lawrence in his letter published The by you on the 26th July, and find that the splendid turnpike roads in Ohio cost on an average $2,136 per mile. Now can't you convince our people that for the present at least it will be wiser, resting contented with the railroads they have. to build twelve miles of first-class turupike than one of railroads. Think what a change in our condition such roads would make? What s saving it would cause in horses and vehicles? Then again, let us remember that our capital and work expended on our country roads are in no danger of being taken from us; that there is no danger that our roads will be managed by directors of foreign corporations and diverted from the purposes for which they will be built as our railroads are; that when built they will be open to all to travel upon them, and not confined to the monopoly of a single corporation; that they will permeate our whole State. and not benefit only a few who happen to be in the immediate neighborhood of depots. As you have well said, the great present point is to have a com-mencement. Why not allow our counties by vote to issue bonds to build turnpikes, as the State has allowed them to do in several instances for railroads One or two countles building first-class turnpikes would soon demonstrate that good roads are quite as beneficial to our people as railroads, and the rest of the State would follow as they did about the Fence law. The money we have saved in doing away with fences in this State would of itself go a great way to put our roads in first-class order."

We think Gen. McCrady talks very sensibly on this public road question, and his views deserve the serious consideration of the public. We hardly realize what an advantage to trade and travel, and what a saving in rolling stock good turnpike roads through the country would be. The benefits of a little money spent in this direction would be seen and

Important a day. Butler's Organ. A weekly paper has been started in New York to advocate the claims of Governor B. F. Buttler for the Presidency, and it is asserted that the Governor furnishes the money with which to run it. The title of it is characteristically unique. Father Columbia and its contents are devoted chiefly to biographical sketches of the Massachusetts statesman, a glorification of the services he has rendered to the country in peace and in war, with a somewhat high flown presentation of his various qualifications for making "the best executive on earth." Its candidate for the Vice Presidency is John H. Reagan of Texas, and its platform is as follows: Reduce public ex- the late venerable Lovick Pierce, D. D., pense seventy-five per cent. Only one thing is lacking to make our revenge and the accuracy of the parallel complete. Butler ought to be a penniless carpet-bagger from South Carolina as our man Chamberlaine was a penniless carpetbagger from Massachusetts. Butler is as great and complete a miscellaneous rascal as Chamberlaine, but he has property enough to make personal direct stealing unnecessary. Unfortunately for Mr. Chamberlaine he was not so lucky, and this State has good reason to regret that he came to her in an impoverished condition and departed with flourishing finances. But Butler's general character, and the eagerness he has shown to degrade and injure the best people of his State, match Chamberlaine's characteristics exactly. And now he has appointed a negro Judge in the Charlestown District just as Chamberlaine appointed many a one in the Charleston District! The subject is fascinate ing. THE IMPROVED TAYLOR COTTON GIN

With Beater and Adjustable

ORANGEBURG, S. C., March 30, 1883.
Capt. John A. Hamilton:
Dear Sir—The Lummus or Improved Taylor Gin bought of you last August has given entire satisfaction; in fact, I must say that it is one of the best Gins I have ever used. I can gin a bale of cotton weighing 400 pounds in one hour. I have ginned over 500 bales on it this season. It keeps the most perfect roll of any gin I have ever used, and the roll never breaks. The Feeder is one of the most perfect and simple eeders I have ever seen.

Respectfully, W. W. OLIVER.
